

Emerging and novel RF technologies: From computational techniques to devices, circuits and modules

Organizer: John Papapolymerou

This session will highlight some of the recently emerging and novel RF methods and technologies ranging from groundbreaking computational methods to diamond RF devices, memristor crossbar circuits and additively manufactured circuits and modules.