

Underwater Acoustics – Roi Blumberg

The Session will cover recent advances in research and technologies in the field of Underwater Acoustics. This includes, but is not limited to, recent developments in acoustic field propagation modelling, seafloor characterization & acoustic reverberation modelling, Target Echo Strength modeling & measurements, underwater communication technologies, active and passive sonar technologies, and underwater acoustic measurement technologies & methods.