

November 6-8, 2023 David Intercontinental Hotel Tel Aviv Israel

Advanced Technologies for Next Generation Wireless Communication Systems

Dan Raphaeli

The wireless applications, like cellular, WiFi and BT are already integral part of the everyday life. The successors are creeping closer, and it promises to significantly boost the speed and coverage of your wireless connections. It will also include clever advances to reduce latency, increase capacity, and boost stability and efficiency.

In this session we will cover some of the new algorithms and technologies that will be involved in those advances.